

RNDr. Terézia Kisková, PhD.

Department of Animal Physiology, PF UPJŠ

Slovakia

Terézia graduated in 2008 at the University of Pavol Jozef Šafárik (UPJŠ) in the field of Molecular Cytology and Genetics. Thereafter, she finished her PhD in the field of Animal Physiology in 2012 at the same university. She attended a postdoctoral fellowship at the Medical University of Vienna in 2015. Currently, she works at the Department of Animal Physiology, Institute of Biology and Ecology, Faculty of Science UPJŠ (PF UPJŠ) in the field of Experimental Neurobiology. She is a deputy director for External Relations and a member of the Committee for Animal Welfare and Good Animal Conditions at the Institute of Biology and Ecology, PF UPJŠ.